A. Site Design

Intent

The goal of site planning standards is to take into consideration the preservation of natural amenities, existing topography and panoramic views within the scope of placing buildings on site.

Standards

1. Development view corridors to the site's aesthetic setting and context considering impacts and enhancements to natural features and important pedestrian view corridors such as the Industrial Tributary, The Rock, Pikes Peak, and the Minor and Moderate Skyline / Ridgeline.
2. A sense of entry into the development shall be created by using signage and landscaping elements as a "gateway" feature.
3. The arrangement of buildings, parking, and outdoor areas shall recognize the site characteristics such as topography and view corridors; and relate to the surrounding building blocks in pattern, function, scale, character, and materials.
4. Buildings adjacent to a sidewalk shall be situated to provide a strong visual and physical connection between the sidewalk and the first floor through the use of landscaping such as plantings and structural elements such as stoop/porch and entry canopy.
5. The spaces between buildings shall be recognized in overall building design. These spaces shall be planned and useful in shape and function such as public or private yard, paths, and view corridor.
6. Street frontages shall be configured to promote pedestrian activity along the edges of a block. A street frontage shall consist of the space between the building face and the curb. This zone may include public and private amenities such as tree lawn, sidewalk, café seating, landscaping, and residential stoop and porch.

Service and utility areas shall be consolidated to the greatest extent possible.

B. Building Design

Intent

The intent of building design standards is to create a cohesive plan that support the vision and character of the Brickyard PD. Buildings shall be oriented and scaled to enhance the pedestrian space. A diversity of architectural styles embrace a timeless appearance through the use of different building form and massing, height, roofline, material, and color. Architectural elements should reflect the building's use or program to distinguish one from another such as commercial verses residential.

Standards

1. Buildings shall incorporate enhanced architecture consistent with the importance and high visibility of the buildings' location. Designs shall be rich in detail, material, texture, and color.
2. A variety of product types and building forms shall be used throughout the PD. A diversity of architectural styles will differentiate between the planning areas and bring architectural interest into the community.
3. Single-story elements, such as stoops and porches, covered entries, living space and/or garages, shall be incorporated to establish pedestrian scale.
4. Insets and patio areas to allow for outdoor dining and seating areas shall be incorporated.

7. Contrasting colors for architectural details, awnings and at the entrances are used to create interesting architectural features.
8. The same building plan and elevation shall not be repeated more than once on the same side of the street except for the cluster product which will accomplish elevation changes with color and material.
9. Building massing shall promote a sense of human scale at the street level. Changes in building massing shall be purposeful to enhance important building features, identify changes in interior use or clearly delineate street level and upper-level stories. Architectural elements may include, but are not limited to, large windows, porch/stoop, canopy over entry at ground floor, and balcony, dormer, and bracket at upper stories.
10. Four-sided architectural design, with similar level of material quality and architectural treatment, is required for facades visible to the general public.
11. Buildings located on street corners shall provide pedestrian accessibility on facades facing the street.

13. Large façade volumes or planes shall be broken up into smaller elements in order to reduce the visual scale of a building. The mass of a building and architectural design should be varied in form to emphasize the various interior functions.
14. Pedestrian oriented façade design shall be required. The use of variations in the building façade such as vertical or horizontal articulation, window and entry variations, patios, plazas, and other architectural elements may be used to achieve the pedestrian scale.
15. Dwelling units at ground level shall have a floor elevation change from adjacent sidewalk. Front door with stoop or porch and stair shall be provided to have direct access from individual unit to sidewalk.
